

Dear Parent/Guardian,

Happy New Year. It was so wonderful to receive your children this year at our school. It has been such an exiting week to us all as our new children get oriented to the school. There has been little crying for the babies as an experience of first days at school.

Due to unfinished construction works to a habitable level at our new Junior School, we will not use the premises until next year when we hope that things will be better. We are still experiencing some transport dismay but the routes are getting sketched up for better services in coming weeks. Your child can bring a packed snack and a drink for mid Morning break or you can pay for it at school as it has been before. Please call the office if you need more clarification.

We appreciate all those parents who draw our attention to every area they feel needs some improvement and hope it will remain a tradition to every concerned parent.

International News:

As you all know that our school has a signed partnership agreement with a similar age group school in England, both schools have now agreed on having a uniting partnership logo for the two schools. This logo from now will appear on all our school's official documents. We are all proud of this development and hope you will like it.

Boarding Children:

We have managed to get a very good, secure and spacious boarding facility for children whose parents want in boarding for some reasons. This has given opportunity to children whose parents are not in our catchment area to be part of our school community.

Graduation:

Our teacher Judith Nyakaisiki on Friday 9th Feb, graduated with a Diploma in Education Management at Kyambogo University. We all congratulate her for this achievement and it is our school which will benefit a lot.

Dear parents,

We thank you for the great care and support you have given to our children throughout the holidays. We are so grateful to inform you that our children reported back well and very eager and with great interest to learn. This week has been an orientation week to our learners into a primary section. We learnt about our school rules (Golden rules) we also set our primary one rules as a class and this was done by children. Bad news; one of our member by the name of Waswa Deo lost his Father in the holiday and all P.1s felt sorry to him and his entire family.

Sue Class (Top class)

A happy new year from Top Class. We are very glad with you for having returned our children in good health. Thanks for taking care of them throughout the holidays. We have been revisiting our Golden rules where by they could mention all the rules. The children could tell how a gentle, kind, honest and polite person behaves.

We teachers of top class kindly request parents to continue instilling these morals in our children for better citizens.

By Sava Lynnette 8 years old

This week in S.S.T we learnt about a map and a picture. A map is a representation of an object as draw or seen from a side. In Agriculture, we learnt about farming and in Mathematics we learnt about sets.

Sad news; I lost my father at Mulago hospital.

Reception Class

Our dear parents of reception class, we are very happy to have your children with us. This week has not been easy for us because it was the first day for most children at school, we know with time there are going to like being at school. In this week we are still getting used to school environment while others are not yet used to school, hopefully next week they will settle down. Some children are amazingly very happy to be at school. Thank you very much.

West Ewell Class (Middle Class)

We members of middle class are glad to write to you wishing you a happy new year. We would like to thank the parents who have endeavored to bring back our children on time, in good health and are eager to learn.

This week we are trying to settle down in the new class but with time they will settle down. We therefore kindly request parents to keep on reminding them that one has to move from one class to another.
