

Newsletter No 7 -14

Dear parent / guardian,

I wish to thank you for the continued support of our school programs especially those who sent us decorations to decorate our school and classrooms as we celebrated our partnership Day which fell on 28th September 2007. This is the day remembered by both our school and West Ewell School in England, as a day we introduced internationalism in both schools to make our learners aware of another country beyond their mother land.

In England, it was celebrated by displaying Ugandan Art crafts and our flag among others.

Christmas party:

This year we shall have Christmas party in the best fun. Santa Clause will visit your home and finds your family waiting for him. All what you need is to leave your physical home address to enable him locate your home, and a payment of shillings: 10,000 that will cover transport and other accompaniments. Please register with the office early because we want to have a proper arrangement to have the best fun in your home. This is not compulsory .It is dedicated to only those who wish.

Graduation to P.1 2008:

All children being prepared for P.1 next year will have a graduation ceremony and as usual, parents of Top class pupils pay shillings: 5,000 for the glittering gown.

Top Class

Greetings from top class members. Last week in learning area four we handled counting and copying numbers 0-100. So your child can now count and write from 0-50 with ease and fill in the missing numbers from 50-100. In learning area five we have been handling capital and small alphabet letters then words of "a" sound. Overall, the performance is promising.

Kids Corner By Nkalubo Ian.

Greeting to you parents. My name is Nkalubo Ian in P.1. Last week we learnt the following; transport in social studies and sounds in literacy and in mathematics we counted, wrote and filled numbers from 1-100. I love you parents.

Reception Class

Dear parent we thank you for the good support you have so far exhibited as far as the uplifting of the academic standards of your child is concerned. Your child can now read and write from letter o-q and numerically, your child is now eager to count and write numbers 1-10. Our beloved parent, we beg for an absolute helping hand while at home since this is the last term of your child in reception class. Enjoy the week.

Middle Class

Dear parent, greetings to you. We hereby appreciate all the support you are rendering to your child. Last week we resumed serious studies as usual. We were learning letters a-z, different fruits found in the market, and we are happy that your child was able to identify and mention some of the fruits found in the market.

In mathematics, we learnt about counting numbers orally from 0-20, write, match and fill in the missing numbers. We also looked at the parts of the body specifically the head. May God bless you.

Dear parents last week's subjects were interesting when we learnt about these topics .In mathematics we learnt days of the week. In English, we learnt about Gender. Gender refers to as distinct of sex. In social studies, we learnt about first aid and we defined first aid as the first help given to a person. In science, we learnt about a mosquito and its types like the culex and anopheles mosquito. Nice weekend.

P.4

By Mulumba Swabhat

What we learnt last week, in English we learnt about building, we also looked at new words like; banana fibres, bed room, builder, carpenter, cement and reeds. In science, we are still on the topic of food and nutrition. In R.E, we learnt about how Jesus washed his disciple's feet. From that experience of Jesus washing his disciples feet, P.4 class designed it's motto as "services to others first" .Have nice twenty-four hours.
